Every Face Has A Place

What a wonderful event our KidsMatter Launch was on Thursday last week! Many thanks to those parents who came along to share in the joy of the day. Mr Edwards will report on this event and our ongoing KidsMatter focus in a future newsletters.

In the day to day life of our school, we value each student as a special and unique creation by a powerful, kind and loving God.

There are times when difficulties arise between students and they may need some help to manage their situation. The experiences of life are very effective in teaching us, and our students, important lessons. It is not fair on students who are feeling unsafe or vulnerable, however, to simply allow matters to run their course and to focus mainly on building resilience.

One of the proactive things we do as a school is to help students to work on their social skills in a number of different ways. This can be very helpful for students to become stronger and more appropriate in their responses when dealing with things that don't go their way and frustrations with others. This building of resilience, though important, should never be the sole focus of our advice and intervention when problems do arise with students.

Quite simply, if there is a problem that is ongoing between students, it should be stopped. The need for resilience is not nearly as great if harsh treatment from others is dealt with effectively.

We value the partnership between the home and school when dealing with issues of this type. None of us have children who do not sin. If there is something to work on, we do our children and others a great disservice if we ever think that it is not possible that our own child could ever be mean to others.

Our role as a school is to do all we can to ensure any behaviour that leaves others feeling unsafe is stopped. We care for the perpetrators of nastiness as well as the victims. We want both to be the best and the happiest students they can possibly be.

Every face does indeed have a place at our school. May you and your children experience the joy of learning and developing relationships in a safe and happy environment each day!

Tuhan memberkati,

Daryl Davey

Live Life Well @ School

Be Active Every day

Everyone - not just kids - needs to be active every day. Moderate activities make your heart beat faster and breathing become quicker. E.g. walking fast, bike riding, dancing, playing on park equipment, and skateboarding
Vigorous activities make you huff and puff. E.g. organised sports, running, swimming laps, star jumps, and skipping.

Changes to Bus Applications

As of 12 May 2016, applying for a Bus Pass is now to be done online. Brochures were sent home last week for Years 1-5, and will be sent to our Kinder classes when they arrive.
